From: ckoerner@bakersfieldpd.us
To: CTrefz@bakersfieldpd.us
Subject: warrant stuff
Date: Thursday, March 7, 2019 12:13:36 AM

In the event one of these cellular phones, mobile devices, computers, or storage device is seized and the suspect (COLE NEFF) is incapacitated, injured, uncooperative, or deceased, offices are authorized to utilize the involved person(s) fingerprint recognition or facial-recognition to gain access to the device for the purposes of placing the device in a downloadable state with the intention of keeping the phone or computer in an unlocked state until the contents can be downloaded pursuant to judicial authority or exigent circumstances. Officers are authorized to use reasonable force to gain compliance when faced with the listed scenario.

Based on my training and experience, I know people will often use their cellular phones to video record or photograph themselves having sexual relations with other people. Sometimes these recordings/photos are consensual, and sometimes they are not. Many people will save these recordings/photos as a memento, and many times the recordings/photos will be stored on the person's phone. However, many people will transfer these recordings/photos from their phone to another device for a variety of reasons such as lack of storage space on cellular phone; concealment from spouse, significant other, parent, or guardian; concealment from law enforcement, and file not large enough to store data. I believe if such evidence could be located on any electronic device owned by COLE NEFF, it would greatly strengthen the information provided by the victim's